CORAM : MR.JUSTICE R.P.DHOLAKIA

Date of decision: 08/05/2002

ORAL JUDGEMENT

The petitioner has been detained under the provisions of Gujarat Prevention of Anti-Social Activities Act, 1985 (hereinafter referred to as 'the Act of 1985') by the order dated 7-2-2002 passed by the Police Commissioner, Surat City and she has been declared as bootlegger.

2. It is now well settled that unless the activities of a person as bootlegger has disturbed the maintenance of public order, she cannot be detained under the Act. Reliance is placed on a decision of the case of Piyush Kantilal Mehta Vs. Commissioner of Police, Ahmedabad & Ors. reported in AIR 1989 SC 491.

3. I have heard learned advocate for the petitioner at length and learned AGP, Mr.S.J.Dave for the respondents. I have also perused the material on record. Learned advocate for the petitioner has submitted that four offences were registered against the petitioner under the Prohibition Act. Though various contentions were raised in the petition, she has restricted her arguments on the point of delay in considering the representation and communicating the same to detenu. Learned advocate for the petitioner has stated that representation dated 11-3-2002 sent through advocate to the detaining authority was decided on 20-3-2002 but communication of the same was received by the detenu on 1-4-2002. She has relied upon the case of Harish Pahwa Vs. State of U.P. and others, AIR 1981 S.C. 1126, more particularly para 3 which runs as under:

"The representation made by a detenu has to be considered without any delay. The Supreme Court does not look at equanimity upon delays when the liberty of a person is concerned. Calling comments from other departments, seeking the opinion of Secretary after Secretary and allowing the representation to lie without being attended to is not the type of action which the State is expected to take in a matter of such vital importance. It is the duty of the State to proceed to determine representations with the utmost expedition, which means that the matter must be taken up for consideration as soon as such a representation is received and dealt with continuously (unless it is absolutely necessary to wait for some assistance in connection with it) until a final decision is taken and communicated to the detenu. Where this is not done the detention has to be declared unconstitutional."

4. This Court while passing the order dated 3-5-2002 granted time to the learned advocate for the petitioner to amend the petition by filing civil application. However, since the learned advocate for the petitioner could convince this Court on the point raised by her at the time of arguments, she does not want to file civil application. Hence, I proceed further in the matter.

5. In the present case, it appears that the representation dated 11-3-2002 sent to the detaining authority was rejected on 20-3--2002, but it was communicated to the detenu on 1-4-2002 and hence, there is a delay in deciding the representation and communicating the rejection of his representation. However, no explanation has been putforward by the authority for the same. Since no explanation has been putforth by the concerned authorities for the aforesaid delay, the order of detention is illegal and the same cannot be sustained.

6. The petition is allowed. The impugned order of detention dated 7-2-2002 passed against the detenu is hereby quashed and set aside. The detenu Shami Alias Sharmilaben, W/o Raju Sukha Patel is ordered to be set at liberty forthwith, if not required in any other case. Rule is made absolute accordingly with no order as to costs. Direct service is permitted.
